Wednesday, January 22nd at 7:30pm Lynne Ellis: Importance of Honeybees

Lynne Ellis, owner of Two Georges Honey will enlighten us on the importance of honeybees in our existence and our health. Lynne is the cofounder of the Greater Baltimore Beekeepers. She has a degree in horticulture and managed a private estate/farm for 42 years. She will tell us a little about the jobs of bees in the hive. Lynne will also share why she makes hand, face, body creams and lip wax. She will bring samples of her honey for tasting and some samples of her hand cream. Some of her products will be available for purchase.

Wednesday, January 29th at 7:30 p.m. Rick Bell: The Wrong Side of History: Loyalists in the American Revolution

The loyalists were the losers of the American Revolution. The Americans who rejected independence and who fought to keep the colonies safely within the bosom of the British Empire lost almost everything when the patriots declared victory at the Battle of Yorktown in 1781. History quickly lost sight of them in the years afterwards and looking back now, it's hard to understand why so many ordinary Americans were actually bitterly opposed to the break with Britain and the birth of a new nation. Join University of Maryland historian Richard Bell as he takes us back in time to examine the American Revolution from their perspective. Focusing on individuals with compelling personal stories, Bell challenges deep-rooted stereotypes of loyalists as sycophantic, cowardly, and selfish persons of means and demonstrates that to understand who the loyalists were, and what they experienced, is to better understand the stakes of the entire American Revolution.

A STAR AMONG US: EDIE BROWN WAS FEATURED IN THE DECEMBER 2024 BALTIMORE MAGAZINE FOR BEING ONE OF 8 BALTIMOREANS WHO PROVE THAT AGE IS JUST A NUMBER.

With her crystal-blue eyes offset by impeccable makeup, Brown looks years younger than her nine decades.

EDIE BROWN IS TRYING TO SORT out a ribbon cutting. Her vision for the November groundbreaking of the affordable housing project Hope Village was derailed when she visited the site. “I had this big plan, but when I went to see it for the first time—the street’s so narrow we can’t get the media down there,” she says. “I’m still trying to figure out how to make it visually fabulous.”

Brown will no doubt find her fabulous alternative. A tiny alley is no match for the 91-year-old media maven, who has been the driving force behind some of the city’s most memorable events as head of marketing and public relations at the Baltimore Convention Center, CFG Bank Arena, and through her firm, Edie Brown & Associates. She was a consultant to the state’s economic development department under Gov. Bob Ehrlich and worked closely with former Mayor William Donald Schaefer promoting the city during some of its most challenging years.

At her home in the Edenwald senior living community in Towson, she gestures to the wall of her office. “This is my life,” she says. There are innumerable awards, framed articles, and photos of Brown with Bill Clinton, Nancy Reagan, Luciano Pavarotti, and Elton John—there’s even a framed piece of the vestment that was on the altar when Pope John Paul II came to Baltimore in 1995, a gift from then-Cardinal William Keeler to express gratitude for her help with the visit.

She keeps her hand in the business, doing occasional work for clients like About Faces Day Spa & Salon and the pro bono gig for Hope Village. She’s on the board at Everyman Theatre and is on Edenwald’s trips and travel and speakers’ committees. “I’m a people person and connecting and doing these things makes you feel good about life,” she says.

With her crystal-blue eyes offset by impeccable makeup (she uses custom blend cosmetics courtesy of a makeup artist she met through About Faces), Brown looks years younger than her nine decades. Diagnosed with Parkinson's disease within the last four years, she quips that the only way it has slowed her down is that it makes mascara application tricky.

"You can never feel sorry for yourself. You have to be positive," she says. "Some days, if I have negative thoughts, I say, 'Okay girl, put your two feet on the ground, get up, get dressed, put your makeup on, and get moving.'"

Brown seems to know everyone and has a packed schedule of dinner outings. Her zest for life comes naturally but may also have its roots in her youth "I didn't quite fit the mold growing up," Brown says. She came to Baltimore at the age of five with her parents, who were fleeing Nazi Germany. Unlike other children with big families and deep roots, "I had to be adventurous, out there. I had to make my own way."

And make her way she did. As a newly married woman, she taught English and Spanish at Garrison High School, where Barry Levinson and Ben Cardin were her pupils. When she had her children, two sons and a daughter, she took up pottery and opened a boutique for local craftspeople. But after five years, "I was tired of dirty jeans and being alone," she remembers. With absolutely no experience in public relations, she boldly applied for the job at the convention center and was hired in 1979, setting the course for her remarkable career.

Brown has an inexhaustible amount of energy. A believer in movement, especially as one ages and particularly given her Parkinson's, she spends time stretching every morning, does Pilates, and circuit trains at Rock Steady Boxing Charm City. She still plays nine holes of golf every Tuesday and frequently visits her children, nine grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. Stan, her beloved husband of over six decades, died three years ago. She says living at Edenwald has made her feel the loss of friends and neighbors a bit more acutely than when she was living independently.

But she refuses to be maudlin. "I stay too busy to be depressed," she says. "You have to stay positive, stay active, and just have joy in every day that you get to see the sun rise or set."

SATURDAY NIGHT MOVIES

WE NEED HELP! DON'T LET THIS BE THE LAST PICTURE SHOW

After eight years of dedicated service to all of us, Shirley Kaufman has decided to retire from selecting and showing movies every Saturday night.

Many of us look forward to the Saturday night movies. We need someone or a committee to show our Saturday night movies.

We already have names of some of us who will help in showing the movies (techies) but we need a committee and a chair to select the movies.

If you are a movie buff, or even if you are not, let me know that you will help in this important program which is a mainstay of programming at Edenwald.

You can contact me, Floyd at 410-913-1716 or even better at fherman1213@gmail.com.

WELCOME NEW RESIDENTS LESLIE & GARY PLOTNICK

By Jerriann Wilson

The Plotnicks moved to Terraces 1120 in mid-October after 49 years in Pikesville.

They are still settling-in but are eager to embrace Edenwald and all it has to offer. Leslie was born in Brooklyn, NY and moved to Long Island in elementary school. She entered Goucher College after her third year of high school, majored in chemistry, and graduated in 1966. She chose a career in medicine. Gary was born in Baltimore and lived near the Pimlico Racetrack. He attended City College High School in the A course, graduated in 1959, and was head cheerleader (remember - no girls). He enrolled at Johns Hopkins, majoring in Biological Sciences and graduated in 1962. He then attended the University of Maryland Medical School, graduating in 1966.

Leslie and Gary met on a blind date in 1965. She attended the University of Maryland Medical School, graduating in 1970. Her postdoctoral training at Hopkins involved two years each of general pediatrics and pediatric endocrinology. She joined the Hopkins pediatric faculty in 1974. Gary's postdoctoral training in internal medicine began at Maryland in 1966. After two years of medical residency, he was drafted by the Navy and served one year with the Marines in Da Nang and a second year at Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was discharged with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He returned to complete his third year of medical residency and a year as Chief resident at Maryland followed by a two-year Hopkins Cardiology fellowship.

Leslie eventually became full professor at Hopkins. Her special interests were type 1 diabetes and growth problems. She and several authors wrote the first Pediatric Standards of Care for the American Diabetes Association. She still encounters former patients and their parents who are happy to see her. Gary held numerous positions at Maryland including Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, Cardiology fellowship director as well as Echo lab director. He is a skilled teacher according to the medical students who voted him best teacher 11 times with the Golden Apple faculty teaching award. There is a named lecture in his honor. Both Gary and Leslie have Professor Emeritus titles and retired in 2017.

They have two married sons who live in Maryland, a lawyer and a cardiologist, two daughters-in-law, an ESOL teacher and a pediatrician, and five grandchildren ages 8-21. Leslie and Gary are avid theater goers, and I just discovered he is also a magician!! They exercise and enjoy dancing and Zumba- you'll see them on the dance floor, and they always hope others will join them. A delightful couple - you will enjoy meeting them.

WELCOME NEW RESIDENT NANCY ROSENBERG

By Susanne Emory

Nancy Rosenberg grew up in downtown Baltimore where her family had a store called Miracle Market. From the time she was 14, she worked at the store, first as the "Esskay Girl" handing out samples, then the wrapper in the meat department, which included stuffing 5 lb. bags of leftover meat and bags of collard greens to make chitlins, to sell for 50 cents. After graduating from Pikesville High School, she went to work at the Rouse Company, working in the accounting department. Nancy told me that it was Jim Rouse's wife Libby who had the idea to develop Columbia, a place for children to grow up safely. Later, she worked for Wells Fargo, SunTrust and Truist, all in the mortgage business.

Nancy attended Baltimore Junior College and Towson University at night while she was working. She met her husband Stewart on a blind date. He had a dental practice in Laurel and was the first dentist in the state to have a Laser instrument.

Nancy and Stewart had been married for 20 years. Although now divorced, they remain friends and planned on spending Thanksgiving in New York with their two children and three grandchildren. Their son Mark makes movies. He earned an Emmy for his movie "Mud Man". One of the biproducts of making this film was the discovery of the mud that baseball pitchers use on their hands to better control the ball. Their daughter is a homemaker.

Nancy has traveled extensively. Her favorite trips were two safaris in Kenya. I should have guessed that something Africa was going to be in her story as there is a pair of antlers at the door to her apartment. She and her husband ate and slept surrounded by the animals. They also took a thrilling hot air balloon ride.

Nancy moved here from the Risteau condos. Previously, she had lived at Harbor View for 5 years. There she had a fabulous view of the Inner Harbor, and now she has a gorgeous view of north Baltimore County from her 1204 apartment. Nancy is fun, mischievous, a great storyteller and a pleasure to know.

WELCOME NEW RESIDENT

BARBARA BARSHAK

By Kitty Allen

From the moment I walked into Apartment 1302 to interview Barbara Barshak, I knew she must have a loving family. The walls were full of happy photographs and before we even got started, she received her daily phone call from her BFF daughter Randi from San Francisco which brought a smile to her face.

Barbara was born in Troy, North Carolina, a town of 1,000 and a single traffic light – it is still that way today, she tells me. When she was 12 the family moved to Baltimore, her mother’s hometown. She attended Forest Park High School and then Towson College (now University). She taught 3rd grade in Baltimore City for a year but then stopped when she and her husband Irvin birthed five children over the next 10 years – 3 sons and 2 daughters. Irvin was a pharmacist and Barbara helped working part-time in the drugstore. Their children and five grandchildren now live in Idaho, San Francisco, and Minnesota.

She found a most gratifying position with Associated Jewish Charities as a resettlement job counselor for U.S. Immigrant Services where she worked for 3-4 years until the program terminated. This segued so naturally to noticing a triptych of paintings over the living room sofa. Barbara explained that she had seen them at an exhibit at Hebrew University and wanted to buy them. She and Irv pondered the decision overnight and went back the next day to make the purchase but was told that someone else had bought one of them. However, the artist was onsite and offered to create a new set for her. The first painting depicted the dream of the Russian Jews wanting to go to the U.S. The second painting showed the immigrants on the boat heading to Ellis Island, and from a series of family photographs, the artist had now painted faces of the Barshak family. The third painting showed the easily identifiable family now settled in their new country. This re-creation was so special since both Irv’s and Barbara’s grandparents were among the families immigrating from Russia decades ago.

When I asked Barbara what brought her to Edenwald, she told me about her best friend since 7th grade, Bobbie Wolf, lived here, and they were amazed when both ended up on the 13th floor. Several others from her Forest Park class also live here. But one of the main reasons for the move is that Barbara “doesn’t have to cook!” Among her interests are knitting, reading, physical activity and opportunities to be “very social.” There is so much to do here that she now color-codes her calendar just to know what is when and where but here, only three weeks, she is still figuring out what she wants best to do. Our visit was just ending when her phone rang again –a loving grandchild checking in about Thanksgiving plans. Such love!

I hope you will soon get to know Barbara; she is delightful!

Joan Stine

By Debra Furchgott

Wow!! What can be said about Joan Stine in 100 words or less? She's a dynamo with a CV that goes on and on. Joan has had a distinguished career in Public Health in Maryland and has been responsible for the development of programs that have benefited Marylanders for decades. One of her prize projects was the creation of an anti-tobacco program for our state. But Joan's true passion was Prevention: prevention of injuries including child abuse, prevention of mental health issues, and prevention of smoking related illnesses. Armed with her master's degree from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health,

Joan undertook these projects with dedication and success and now looks back at her career with the well-earned pride of accomplishment. While Joan was "saving the world", she raised a lovely daughter and an amazing son, and married Dr. Charles Stine, according to her, "the most interesting man she'd ever met." Marylanders will remember Dr. Stine, a trained dentist with a ScD, Doctor of Science from Johns Hopkins School of Public Health, as the authority on the health of Chesapeake Bay. Many of us listened in awe to Dr. Stine's radio reports about the Bay, its numerous challenges as well as other environmental issues. There is so much to say about Joan, her life and career. It would be a treat to get to know this lovely new resident. She is a delight and a powerhouse of information. A real smart cookie.

Thursday, January 2nd: The Dapogny Duo- Jazz at 7:30pm- AUD

James Dapogny, pianist, a young rising star on the Washington/ Baltimore jazz scene, has grown up around live jazz and jazz musicians in the DC metropolitan area and began playing piano at the age of 5. At age of 11 and 12, James was invited to perform at Blues Alley as a guest of The Redd Brothers. At 12, he also performed with The Redd Brothers at the Kennedy Center. James performs locally in duet with his father and with jazz quintets and vocalists.

John Dapogny, bassist, has performed with jazz groups as a leader and sideman in the Washington/Baltimore area over the last 30 years. John, as winner of the 2017 Lifetime Achievement for Volunteering in Fairfax, and his group Stolen Moments, performed over many years at countless fundraising events for non-profits in Northern Virginia. A benefit concert with vocalist Ericka Ovette was recorded and released on the CD "Songs to Feed the Soul" in 2006.

Join this father and son team for a night of jazz music.

Thursday, January 30th: Gerdan Duo (Dr. Solomia Gorokhivska on Violin & Dr. Andrei Pidkivka on Flute & Various Folk Instruments) at 7:30pm- AUD

Gerdan, Kaleidoscope of World Music is a professional musical group based in the Washington DC metropolitan area. The group is named after Gerdan, a multi-colored, intricately woven beaded necklace from the Carpathian Mountains in Ukraine. Like this dazzling and exquisite necklace of different colors and shapes, musicians create original arrangements of traditional Eastern European folk melodies and rhythms that reflect their passion for blending the old with the new, in a style that is fresh, lively, and beautiful. Gerdan musicians have been acknowledged for their technique and exquisite musical presentations performing an exciting world music repertoire. They reveal their passion for traditional music in their artistic expression to build cultural bridges in time and distance.

The Golden Age of Musicals

The 1930's through the 1950's saw the genre's popularity at its highest in the Western World. The Golden Age of musicals will joyously take you back to the biggest musical films and stars of the era.

Sunday, January 5th: "Second Chorus" (1940)

Two music students, rather than facing the responsibilities of life, repeatedly fail their exams so that they can stay in college. The students change their attitude, however, when they meet a woman who agrees to be their manager, and both attempt to woo her as a way of getting a job in Artie Shaw's band.

Starring: Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard, Burgess Meredith, Charles Butterworth and Artie Shaw

Running Time: 1 hours 24 minutes

Sunday, January 12th: "The Inspector

General" (1949)

The film is loosely based on Nikolai Gogol's play. The plot is relocated from the Russian Empire into an unspecified corrupted region of a European Country that suddenly finds itself under the supervision of the First French Empire.

Starring: Danny Kaye, Walter Slezak, Barbara Bates and Elsa Lanchester

Running Time: 1 hours 42 minutes

Sunday, January 26th: "Royal Wedding" (1951)

American sibling song and dance team Tom and Ellen are in London in 1947 for the nuptials of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. The film features one of Astaire's most legendary dance performances.

Starring: Fred Astaire, Jane Powell, Peter Lawford and Sarah Churchill

Running Time: 1 hours 33 minutes

Sunday, January 19th: "Road to Bali" (1952)

In this musical Harold and George are two vaudeville performers in Australia. After they realize their local gal pals intend to marry them, they sign up for a diving expedition led by the local island prince, Ken. They soon meet the prince's sister who rules a beautiful island. When their dive uncovers a jewel-filled chest, Ken decides to steal both the treasure and Lala's throne, and the trio is forced into hiding.

Starring: Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Murvyn Vye, Dorothy Lamour

Running Time: 1 hours 31 minutes

2nd and 4th Friday at 4pm AUD

Kabbalat Shabbat at Edenwald is an experience hosted by Cantor Ginsberg & Rabbi Herman. It begins as congregants gather with friends, bid farewell to the week that has passed, reconnect with one another and welcome Shabbat with joyous songs.

Bible Study

Questions? See Tom M

For the month of January, we will be meeting the second and fourth Thursday at 10am in the Terrace Multipurpose Room on the first floor. We usually have between 10 and 14 participants depending on doctor appointments, trips, and illnesses. Please plan on joining us if you are free and able. We share the word of God and have prayer time at the end for those in need. The length of the class is between 30 and 60 minutes. If you must leave for some reason, please feel free to exit at any time.

The group is led by Tom & Sherry Morell. Please contact them with any questions or comments. 443-465-1864.

EDENWALD BOOK CLUB

Tuesday, January 14th at 7:30pm in the Terrace Multipurpose Room

Let Us Descend by Jesmyn Ward

OPRAH'S BOOK CLUB PICK

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER- Named one of the best books of 2023 by The Washington Post, Vanity Fair, The Boston Globe, Time, The New Yorker and more.

Let Us Descend describes a journey from the rice fields of the Carolinas to the slave markets of New Orleans and into the fearsome heart of a Louisiana sugar plantation. A journey that is as beautifully rendered as it is heart wrenching, the novel is the literary equivalent of an open wound from which poetry pours.

Annis, sold south by the white enslaver who fathered her, is the reader's guide. As she struggles through the miles-long march, Annis turns inward, seeking comfort from memories of her mother and stories of her African warrior grandmother. Throughout, she opens herself to a world beyond this world, one teeming with spirits: of earth and water, of myth and history; spirits who nurture and give, and those who manipulate and take. While Annis leads readers through the descent, hers is ultimately a story of rebirth and reclamation.

EDENWALD FITNESS & WELLNESS

Thursday, January 30th:

Bazaar Baltimore & Papermoon Diner.

Bus Departure: 11am/ Return: 2pm

Difficulty Rating: Moderate to High

(handicap access is not available)

Bazaar is a store in Hampden that sells strange (very strange) and unusual items. It began in 2013 when owners Greg Hatem & Brian Henry decided Baltimore needed a gift shop for those seeking the strange and unusual. The initial inventory began from their personal collections of items. They are now searching for and creating unique items that implement themes of natural history and morbid curiosity. PaperMoon Diner is a highly praised, eclectic and funky spot for lunch. Residents will work out the bill at each table, please bring cash to make this transaction easier. Sign up under Wellness Events in registration book. Due to space at each destination, we have a limit of 10 residents.

Back for the new year, Judith Andai will lead Sacred Circle Dance on Saturday, January 4th at 11:00AM in the Terrace's Multipurpose Room. This class will be held every Saturday morning in January.

Wednesday Wind Down

What are your New Year's intentions? How about stress relief? Beginning Wednesday, January 8th at 1:30, Alex Dull will start a 4-week series designed to uplift and relax the mind and body through the practices of Yoga, Meditation and Reiki. Perfect for those who are curious. Sign up in the registration book under Wellness Events.

Fit Tip of the Month:

Set intentions, not resolutions. Intentions focus on creating lasting and sustained change.

Dana Claxton (Wood Mountain Lakota First Nations) presents a solo exhibition of her large-scale, backlit, color transparency photography, which she terms "fireboxes." Works from her Lasso and Headdress series, including a newly commissioned Headdress portrait, draw together contemporary Native subjects with regalia and items from the subject's own cultures. The exhibition situates many of the objects depicted in the firebox images alongside objects from the BMA's historic Native art collection. Together, they recognize cultural belongings as extensions of the people who made them, provoking a consideration of personal and institutional care.

With music and lyrics by Dolly Parton, 9 to 5 is based on the smash hit movie. Three unlikely friends take control of their office and learn there is nothing they can't do! Pushed to the boiling point, the female coworkers concoct a plan to get even with the sexist, egotistical, lying, hypocritical bigot they call their boss. In a hilarious turn of events, Violet, Judy and Doralee live out their wildest fantasy – giving their boss the boot!

OPPORTUNITY TO BE PART OF THE
JEWISH MUSEUM OF MARYLAND

The Jewish Museum of Maryland is launching a project that invites all who identify as Jewish and have a relationship with Maryland to have their historical and contemporary family photos presented publicly in the Museum's new core exhibition.

The final exhibit will be a two-part display, with an ongoing presentation of the submitted photographs and an interactive terminal where visitors can search for names or keywords and explore the entries at their own speed. The museum will continue gathering photos and stories after the exhibit opens to continually update and expand this collection over time.

To Participate we are asking for Jewish Marylanders to submit three photos:

- a photo from early in your family's history
- a current photo
- one that falls chronologically in between

The museum will request some basic details about the photos (names, dates, etc.) as well as information about how these photos tie into your Jewish experience and your family's history in Maryland. Not all photos need to be set in Maryland, but we ask that submissions have a clear tie to your Maryland story. So long as you identify as a Jewish Marylander, we want to represent your story at the JMM. If you are interested in learning more, please join Hannah Balik, Visitor Experience Coordinator, on Monday, January 6th at 11am in the Auditorium for a short overview of this project. There will also be a sign-up sheet in the registration book for assistance from Hannah and her staff in submitting photos and information to be a part of this wonderful program. Help with submissions will be on Tuesday, January 28th 1-4pm in the Auditorium.

Memoir Writing:

Share Your Legacy Through Stories

with Chris Stewart, Faculty-in-Residence, Creative Writing

What unique experiences and perspective would you like to preserve and share with your family and friends? Did you experience important moments in history such as the Civil Rights movement, the Women's Rights movement, World War II and the Holocaust, the Cold War, the nuclear arms race, or experience these in another country?

Perhaps you experienced arts and culture movements or advances in science, medicine, technology, or space. Perhaps there are important personal moments in your family you would like to record such as emigrating to the U.S., being the first to open your own business, or break the glass ceiling.

Everyone has a valuable story to share. In this engaging six-week memoir writing workshop, participants will explore the art of capturing life's most meaningful moments through writing. Whether you're looking to preserve family history, reflect on pivotal experiences, or simply share your unique perspective, this workshop provides a supportive environment to turn memories into compelling stories.

No prior writing experience is necessary.

Participants will have the opportunity to join a larger legacy project.

Choose one of two options convenient for you each week

First Day: A New Year's Day Reading of Poetry & Prose

January 1, 2025, 1-2:30 p.m.
In the Café

Start the year with inspiration! Let's gather to share original and favorite poetry and prose that reflects on renewal, hope, and the promise of new beginnings and sets the tone for the year ahead.

All are welcome to read, listen, reflect, and connect as we usher in the New Year through the power of language and community.

Together we'll write in the new year with fun individual and group writing activities to spark creativity.

Please limit readings to 1-2 poems and 2-3 pages of double-spaced prose.

Sign up with what you would like to read.

Weekly Write-Ins

Join Chris Stewart, faculty-in-residence in creative writing for informal write-ins. Respond to writing prompts and exercises that will be provided or bring your writing-in-progress to work on. Drop in and out at any time. At the end of the session, writers who wish to share will be invited to read a brief part of their pieces.

Mondays, starting January 13th
7:30-8:30pm

Terrace Multipurpose Room

GOUCHER UPDATE:

Thank you for your patience as we continue to plan all the wonderful programs between Goucher and Edenwald. We know many students and residents are eager to get started, and we're excited to move forward with the next steps.

Please mark your calendars for the mandatory orientation sessions, which are part of launching our programs. The orientation will take place at Edenwald on:

- January 14, 2025: 10:00 – 11:30 AM or 1:00– 2:30 PM
- January 21, 2025: 10:00 – 11:30 AM or 1:00– 2:30 PM
  - January 22, 2025: 10:00-11:30AM

All sessions will be held in the Terrace Multipurpose Room.
You must attend at least 2 sessions.

- Topics include:

- Classroom and campus culture at Goucher
- Use of teaching and learning resources
- Intercultural and intergenerational engagement
- Additional Information may be included

If you have any questions or need additional information, please don't hesitate to reach out to Liz at elizabeth.goldstein@goucher.edu.

With Sincere Appreciation

The beginning of the new year is a good time to celebrate the generous contributions of 2024.

The Edenwald Scholarship Fund, Inc. recognizes and applauds the many residents who gave financial support in 2024. Through their contributions, 108 employees of Edenwald and their families were awarded scholarships for post-secondary study or student loan payments.

Many thanks to these residents and the outside contributors whose names are not listed here.
